Pearson Says:

Canadians To Fight If Attacked

Suez Police Group Won't Start Anything

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canadian forces in the Middle East will fight back if they are attacked and are being dispatched as a fighting battalion, External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson told a news conference last night.

But he said the United Nations "police and peace" force, of which the Canadians will form a part, is primarily intended as a police force, and will not initiate military action of its own.

It was reported the Canadian contingent would leave on or before Nov. 21. From New York came word that first small units from Denmark and Norway will leave for the Middle East today.

Pearson emphasized the need of quick dispatch of some of the UN force, at least, to the Middle East area, because of reported Soviet troop movements in the area.

"The events and rumors of the last 48 hours," he said, would make speed even more important now than it was 48 hours ago.

"Believe me, this is a situation of grave importance."

If the Egyptians and Israelis did not move back from their present positions, the UN forces would not attack, Pearson said.

A political settlement of the Israeli-Arab disputes, he said, was "in the long run, even more important—if we have a long run."

Israel, he said, had accepted the principle of withdrawal and should therefore expect that the United Nations will take some action to give her more security from her Arab neighbors.

While the attitude of the Commonwealth on Britain's original intervention with France in the area was split, Pearson said that the international police force idea had soothed the differences.

MAGGIE DELAYED

Heavy North Atlantic seas and changed government plans delayed work yesterday on getting the Canadian contingent on its way to the Middle East. The aircraft carrier Magnificent was being buffeted so badly it will be two days late in arriving at Halifax.

Meanwhile, the air force cancelled its original plan to move 435 Squadron, a transport squadron employing Flying Boxcars, from Edmonton to Eastern Canada. The defence department said a large proportion of the men would be transported by ship, and the air force said the main flying would be done by RCAF North Stars.

Airlift Off

QORs Mark Time

Members of the Queen's Own Rifles, due to fly from here to Calgary during the weekend, will go by boat and train instead because of bad flying weather, the army announced last night.

A predicted low ceiling caused the army to scrap its plans to fly some 250 officers and men of the 2nd Battalion in three flights to Calgary today and tomorrow.

The men are now scheduled to leave at 3:30 p.m. Sunday via CPR steamship, taking trucks to the dock.

Some 50 18-year-olds have been included in the Suez-bound group to make up the 2nd Battalion's commitment.

The 1st Battalion is due to sail from Halifax on or about Nov. 21.

All Quiet on Suez

Russians Don't React To Allied Hold-Fast

LONDON (CP)—Britain Friday showed her belief that the sooner a United Nations police force is on the job the better.

She did it by beginning to pull back her Middle East force.

The world, however, was in the dark whether Egypt and the Communist bloc would agree to British, French and Israeli plans to hold fast to their present positions until the international force is ready to take over.

All was reported quiet in the Suez Canal battle zone on the third day of the cease-fire.

President Nasser made a two-hour radio speech in Cairo without mentioning Egypt's position on the police force.

Soviet Russia's attitude remained obscure. Israeli military sources showed serious concern over reports that Soviet MIG-17 fighter pilots and some "volunteer" technicians had arrived in Syria. Moscow dispatches commenting on similar information given out by French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau the day before, apparently were being held up by Soviet censorship.

For the second consecutive night the Israeli army reported a series of Arab commando raids. Six Israelis were wounded in six different stabs from the Syrian and Jordan borders.

U. S. Congressional leaders left a 24-hour conference with President Eisenhower in Washington reporting the situation "serious" and "grave." But some said they believe a peaceful solution would be worked out.

NO INTERVENTION

The weight of administration opinion in Washington was reported to be that Russia probably would not intervene.

Israeli citizens appeared shocked and disappointed by Premier Ben-Gurion's announcement of withdrawal, but doubted he means they will have to give up the Gaza strip of Palestine. In fact Israel's military administrators were setting up a government in the strip, changing its money, and restoring its railway connections with Tel Aviv in apparent preparation for a permanent stay.

DIPLOMATIC PATCHING UP

Britain and France still face the task of easing the strains on their friendship with the United States that have developed in the Middle East crisis. Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet have been urged by government and parliamentary advisors to make a quick trip to Washington to see President Eisenhower. The White House, however, said there were no plans for such a conference "at the moment."

The French defence ministry said Friday the taking of Port Said had cost the British and French 28 killed and 90 wounded.

CONSIDERABLE COST

"Upkeep costs for a 1,200 man contribution from Canada to the United Nations police force for Egypt will be considerable. "One reason Parliament will have to re-convene is to vote money to the department of national defence for these troops," he said.

The Canadian troops will be flown to the Middle East if they are to join a United Nations force, he said.

Dr. McCann had little to say on recent criticism about the customs and excise department's "censorship" policy by a Vancouver columnist for banning from Canada the novel "Peyton Place," published in New York last month.

"The decision can be appealed to the courts if it is not thought to be fair," Dr. McCann said.

REVENUE MINISTER J. J. McCANN
... "They'll get nowhere"

McCann Doubts Sacred Chances

Social Crediters are being "optimistic" in thinking they can "march on to Ottawa" in the next federal election, Revenue Minister James J. McCann said yesterday.

Dr. McCann, in Victoria to inspect customs and excise and income tax offices, said he did not think the Social Credit Party would get anywhere nationally.

"They are in power only provincially in Alberta and B.C. and are being highly optimistic if they think they can run federally with any success. No one knows anything about them east of Saskatchewan."

"I'm confident the Liberal Party under Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will be returned."

"Although, who knows, Social Credit might sometime beat the Conservatives and form an opposition in the House," he said.

The next federal election will "quite likely be next summer," the minister said.

"It is normal to have an election every four years. A government usually runs out the legal limit of five years only during wartime."

Dr. McCann has inspected his offices from Halifax to Victoria and said revenues from one end of the country to the other have increased in the past year.

"The gross national product this year is the highest ever—higher than was even anticipated last year," he said.

"This is an indication of buoyancy of business throughout Canada and also a yardstick to measure the national employment situation."

"The increased revenue from deductions at the source show more people now are gainfully employed than ever before and fewer unemployed," Dr. McCann said.

Alterations to Victoria's customs and excise building, which should be complete next year, will give this city as fine facilities as any other part in Canada, the minister said after inspecting his local offices.

Canadian economy is bound to be affected by the Middle East situation, he said.

'Canada of Abundance'

Bonner Will Mastermind Sacred March to Ottawa

Big Program 'Electrifying'

By PETER BRUTON
Colonist Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Social Credit will offer a program that will "electrify" the Canadian people in the next federal election, national leader Solon Low told 650 cheering delegates here last night.

"We will hold out the hope of a Canada of abundance,"

Mr. Low told the B.C. Social Credit League's annual convention that Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia is to "mastermind" Social Credit's "march on Ottawa" in next year's federal elections.

"We are tremendously thankful to have a young man of his great capabilities," the national leader said.

Mr. Bonner, he said, has been named chairman of the national executive's special committee to map out the "on-to-Ottawa" campaign.

BENNETT BACKING

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said he would support Mr. Low and was not a rival for the national leadership.

Speaking at a convention banquet, the national leader said one of the first things a Social Credit government would do when elected to Ottawa would be to increase old-age pensions.

A Social Credit administration would be centralized government and would give municipalities and provinces a better deal and a fairer share of tax revenues.

REVISE STRUCTURE

In addition, it would bring about a complete revision of the present tax structure "to provide a greater inducement to private enterprise and result in the economic development of this country."

Mr. Low spoke at the convention, which concludes today, was in the process of hammering out the basic Social Credit platform for the federal election.

One of the main points is an increase in income tax exemptions of "at least 50 per cent."

OTHER POINTS

Others call for a $20-a-month increase in old-age pensions; low interest loans for small businesses and farmers; a national health insurance program; revision of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to provide low interest rates; and federal assistance for construction of all main highways.

Proposals took the form of resolutions passed by the convention suggesting what the federal government should do.

Nearly all the proposals were approved by the convention by adjournment time last night. It is almost certain the rest will be approved this morning.

Included among resolutions approved are those calling for: Immediate removal of existing credit restrictions imposed by the Liberal government.

Appropriation of funds to be loaned to municipalities at interest rates not exceeding 2 per cent a year on municipal securities carrying an unconditional provincial guarantee.

Greatly increased capital and operating grants provided by the federal government to universities in Canada.

FOREST PROTECTION

A program to share forest protection costs on an equal basis between the provincial and federal governments.

One resolution asked the provincial government to demand that the B.C. Telephone Company take immediate steps to deal with the current shortage of telephones in the province, and that the situation be rectified within two years.

U.K. Labor Flays Russia's 'Brutality'

LONDON (AP)—British labor leaders called Friday on Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik and handed him a statement denouncing Russia's "brutal repression" in Hungary.

The statement flayed the Soviet government for "crushing with exceptional ruthlessness every vestige of freedom in Hungary."

It urged the Russians to allow free elections there.

Labor party leader Hugh Gaitskell, who led a delegation representing all branches of the trade union movement, handed the statement to Malik.

Delegates said later the ambassador attempted to state the Soviet view, but the British Labor leaders rejected his explanation. Students, church leaders and other groups joined in bitter protests against the Soviet onslaught in Hungary. Gifts of money and clothing poured into offices organizing relief for refugees.

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (CP)—Fisheries Minister Sinclair said Friday night that "the great task of free world statesmanship today is to bypass the ruthless Communist government and convince the ordinary people of Russia that we, like they, have a genuine desire for peace."

Danger of War Recedes—Nehru

CALCUTTA (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru said Friday that the danger of a third world war has receded but the situation is still "tense and difficult."

To the All-India Congress

Committee of the ruling Congress party, Nehru declared that in his opinion the Russian threat to Britain, France and Israel on their invasion of Egypt was the most decisive factor leading to their readiness to agree on a cease-fire.

He said he would not want India to leave the Commonwealth "unless circumstances compel us to do so."

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP)—Iraq

announced Friday she will boycott Baghdad Pact meetings attended by Britain, because of the British assault on Egypt.

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has protested to the Egyptian embassy for attempting to recruit troops in Canada, External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson, said yesterday.

LONDON (Reuters)—Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist party leader, has demanded that Britain, France and Israel— "unwanted intruders" in Egypt—should be "severely punished," the official Soviet news agency, Tass, reported Friday night.

Automatic Washer Takes Baby's Life

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Fourteen-month-old Peter Vasso was killed Friday when he climbed into an automatic washing machine while it was operating in the kitchen of his home.

Police said his mother, Miriam, 24, had stepped into an adjoining bedroom to gather more clothes.

Mrs. Vasso told police she heard a thumping noise and rushed back into the kitchen, searching wildly for Peter.

She found him in the moving, top-loading machine.

The mother's screams brought Robert Summers, 28, and his wife, Lillian, 26, from their second floor apartment. Speechless, the mother pointed to the washer.

Summers lifted out the child and police took him to Women's Medical Hospital. He was pronounced dead from head and internal injuries.

Peter's father, George, a mechanic, was at work at the time.

Methodical Men Plugging Canal

PORT SAID, Egypt (Reuters) — The Suez Canal today is a series of muddy ditches, blocked in at least six places following action by Egyptian soldiers.

The two-day blocking operation, carried out by Egyptian army engineers, began Thursday Nov. 1 with a roar of high explosives in Port Said harbor.

In the flickering light of flames and smoke, a 3,000-ton dredge, shattered by the explosion, sank to the bottom of the channel.

Beside it, the Egyptians sank two smaller dredges and a lifting pontoon, to block the outer entrance of the harbor.

OUT OF BOUNDS

Nearly two large floating cranes cross their arms in a giant "X"—a dramatically oversized out-of-bounds sign to indicate that the canal is closed to all shipping.

They, too, were sunk.

About 14 ships, including one Russian tanker loaded with kerosene, lay trapped in the canal.

After the harbor was blocked the Greek government ship Jacovos, in harbor the last four years as obsolete, was towed and blown up to block a drydock.

Meanwhile, an Egyptian army unit made wreckage of the Suez Canal Company's workshops. The workshops, valued at more than $2,000,000, are said to have been unique in the Middle East. They had foundries, lathe and other equipment to make spare parts for and repair canal machinery.

One by one the machines were blown up with dynamite or cut to pieces with acetylene torches.

Black Sheep of Family Blunders Into Capture

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jerry Leonard Fairris, 20, reacted tersely when caught fleeing under gunfire from a $1,500 tourist robbery as his car ran out of fuel.

"I sure hope my father doesn't find out I tried to pull a hijacking without enough gas," he told police. "He'd never get over it."

Jerry's father, Iwana Clyde Fairris, is an old pro at hijacking and is serving a life sentence in prison.

His uncle, Hurbie Fairris, has been in prison twice and a year ago faced robbery charges at a time when his son, Hurbie, Jr., was electrocuted in Oklahoma for killing a policeman.

Jerry's aunt, Marie Zeglen, the elder Hurbie's first wife, is serving time for killing her third husband. She also killed her second.

His cousin, Bethel Fairris, Jr., is serving time for robbery.

Another uncle, Raymond Hamilton, was executed in 1935 for murdering a guard during a prison break at Huntsville, Tex.

Jerry, disconsolate over what his father would think of an amateurish neglect of his gas tank on a stickup, is an ex-convict, too. He went to prison at 17 for possession of narcotics.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE lady gave us permission to gather windfall apples from her place, but added that she no longer lived there. Her sister had taken over the house, but she was away from home and anyway, she wouldn't mind.

It was after dark when we arrived, and we stumbled through the orchard in frantic haste, prying apples from the grass by feel and dumping them in a cardboard box.

We couldn't shake off the notion that we were stealing them, and as we worked we developed fantasies of being surprised by the sudden return of the occupant of the house. Maybe (we said to one another) we had blundered in the dark and gone to the wrong house entirely, and would soon be under arrest.

But we filled the box and another and moved toward the car with guilty haste, pausing on the way to gather up stray apples, as burglars might stop to pick up ten-dollar bills that had fallen from the satchel.

The car was full of the sweet-sour fragrance of apples. The headlights showed up two or three more apples on the gravel drive. We stopped to pick them up, and made our getaway.

Next day I sorted through a batch of apples which I had gathered earlier and left too long; sorted out the good ones and cut mouldy spots from the ones that could be salvaged. Then I gathered a few more from another orchard by permission of the owner, and took the lot to a cider press.

A cider press is a hard thing to find. A few are still hiding in old farm houses or in the store rooms of people who value such souvenirs of the bucolic past.

This one was still in perfect working order, a cumbersome and charming antique which had yielded to the mechanical age by allowing itself to be harnessed to an electric motor.

Being a novice with cider presses, I stood by while the custodian of the machine showed me how to work it. The apples had to be dumped in a hopper, a few at a time. With dignified ferocity, the old machine chewed them up and deposited the chips in a wooden pail with vertical crevices in its sides.

The filled pail was moved to another position, and a hand-screw squeezed a wooden platter down upon the apple-chips, forcing the juice out through the chinks in the pail.

The honey-colored fluid ran down a wooden trough into a bucket, from which I bailed it in a cup and fed it through a funnel into a gallon jar.

"If you want to preserve the apple juice, and stop it fermenting, bring it up to 180 degrees," my instructor said. "Or just enough to make it bubble on the stove."

I trundled the squeezed pulp away in a wheelbarrow, dumped it on a manure pile.

And then I drank a mug of the newly-pressed juice. It was as though I had tasted apple juice for the first time. The flavor was rich, sharp and full of the taste-overtones of a bite into a fresh apple—as different from the pale canned variety as chalk from cheese.

How much fun and flavor we miss by allowing other people to prepare and preserve our food by machinery.

Garden Notes

Garden Bonfire Ashes Valuable

By M. V. CHENNET, F.R.S.

This is a good time of the year to collect and burn any rubbish, twigs and branches unfit for the compost heap or fireplace. I think that most good gardeners realize the necessity for such a fall clean-up, for my neighbors were all out in full force last weekend, getting their garden housekeeping chores done, and in almost every garden on our street, the customary bonfire was very much in evidence.

WORTH SAVING

It is not so generally realized, though, that the ashes from the garden bonfire are well worth saving. While the nitrogen and phosphorus contained in the leaves and wood are dissipated into the air in the form of gases, the mineral salts are still there in the ashes, which are rich in potash and a little lime. A mixture of wood ashes and bone meal makes a mild, long-lasting fertilizer which is especially good for peonies, ornamental poppies, and such plants which stay in one place for a long time.

Trouble is, wood ashes from the garden bonfire will lose most of their food value if they are exposed to the weather for any length of time, so it is best to gather them up before the rain comes and store them in a dry place under cover.

CHARCOAL VALUABLE

Ashes are not the only useful by-product of the garden bonfire, though, and I don't think very many gardeners appreciate the value of charcoal and bits of charred wood, especially as an ingredient of the soil mixtures for houseplants.

Charcoal is a most valuable substance which goes a long way towards keeping soil and water sweet. This isn't much of a problem with short-lived houseplants such as the spring-flowering bulbs—they aren't in their pots long enough for the soil to turn sour—but I wouldn't dream of potting up any plant which is destined to stay in its pot or tub for more than a year without mixing charred wood or charcoal into the soil mixture.

TWO CUPFULS

For the average houseplant, use about two small cupfuls of charcoal bits per bucketful of soil. For plants which require an abnormal amount of water—cyclamens, hyacinths, ferns, etc.—the danger of soil souring is increased, and the dosage of charred wood or charcoal should be doubled.

Charred wood has many uses in the outdoor garden, too. Violets and primroses love the stuff, and

Starvation Used To Halt Patriots

VIENNA (Reuters)—The Soviet army is trying to starve into submission insurgents still fighting on in the Hungarian capital of Budapest, refugees reported here Friday night.

This would mean that the threat of starvation faces all civilians of Budapest, over which a Russian jet bomber of the Ilyushin-28 type was reported shot down Friday.

Reports said Russian patrols stopped food deliveries entering Budapest and fired on bread lines, mowing down women and children standing before baker's stores.

The 24-hour curfew in Budapest has been lifted so that people now can go into the streets from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. But reports said many stores are empty and new stocks are not reaching the city.

The nature of the task confronting the Russian army in Hungary can be gauged from reports that as soon as Russian armor clears one district in the provinces, resistance immediately breaks out in another.

Latest reports indicated fighting continues in Budapest, in some western provinces and in the steel city of Dnepropetrovsk.

Hungarian refugees arriving here said Friday that most Soviet troops fighting in Hungary are Mongols or Armenians.

Intelligence sources reported nearly 5,000 card-carrying members of the Austrian Communist Party have quit in protest. Anti-Communist demonstrators have smashed and fired seven party offices and two bookshops.

U.K. Forces Withdraw

Suez Units Go Home

LONDON (UPI)—British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden last night warned anew of the "danger of the influx of Russian arms" in the Middle East. He said he was willing to go anywhere and meet anybody to solve the crises in the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

troopers would be withdrawn from Egypt and replaced by equivalent infantry forces.

In his speech, Eden indicated he would be willing to go to Washington with French Premier Guy Mollet for a Big Three meeting. Mollet had already announced he was going to Washington.

In Washington, White House spokesman James C. Hagerty said the possibility of such a Big Three meeting had been discussed but he said "there are no plans at this moment for it."

Eden also announced conditional acceptance to a Swiss appeal for a five-power "summit" peace conference of the United States, Britain, France, Russia and India.

"Clearly, the response to this must depend on others besides myself," he added.

Eden criticized the United Nations in connection with the Hungarian crisis.

Red Attack Backfiring

VIENNA (UPI)—The Soviet attack on Hungary continues to backfire on Communist parties and diplomats throughout the world.

Intelligence sources reported nearly 5,000 card-carrying members of the Austrian Communist Party have quit in protest. Anti-Communist demonstrators have smashed and fired seven party offices and two bookshops.

UN Wants Russian Exit, Free Hungary Elections

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—The United Nations General Assembly last night overwhelmingly approved resolutions calling for the immediate withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary and free elections in the country.

Despite determined Arab-Asian efforts, led by India's V. K. Krishna Menon, to delete phrases placing the blame squarely on Russia for the Hungarian situation, the assembly voted 63-9 with 13 abstentions for a United States seven abstentions, an Austrian resolution largely duplicating the American measure, but without reference to Soviet activities in Hungary.

The United States, meanwhile, announced that it was making available immediately $1,000,000 for Hungarian refugees.

'Russia, U.S. with Us' Nasser Tells Egyptians

CAIRO (UP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser told Egyptians Friday that the United States and Russia "are with us." He said the Suez Canal will remain blocked as long as "one single foreign soldier" remains on Egyptian soil.

"We are doing our utmost by all means to avert the outbreak of a third world war," Nasser said in speech from the ancient Al Azhar Mosque. "But this will never be at the expense of our sovereignty and independence."

Shortly after his speech, Nasser held separate conferences with U.S. Ambassador Raymond Hare, Soviet Ambassador Evgeny Kisseliev and United Nations Palestine armistice chief Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada. They were reported to have discussed Egypt's reply to proposals for a UN international police force in the Canal Zone.

WORD BY WORD

In his speech from the mosque, the Egyptian chief of state said Egypt had held off a reply while the UN proposals were studied "word by word."

"Egypt will persist in maintaining its sovereignty, its independence, its territory and its prestige," he said.

"Two great powers are with us," he asserted. "Russia, which threatened Britain and France, and America which opposed their aggression."

"The British say they brought with them technicians to repair the canal," he said. "We naturally announced that so long as

U.S. Ponders Aid Pact With Israel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported considering a mutual-security pact for Israel Friday as a means of further smothering down the Middle East.

Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress left a 2½-hour White House conference with President Eisenhower voicing optimism and faith in his handling of the tense situation.

their is a foreign force, one single foreign soldier in Egypt, we shall not begin repairing the canal, and we shall not begin running the canal, because this affects our plan for defence against aggression.

"We were taken in by treachery once and we cannot possibly be taken in by treachery again. We want peace, but surrender will not be imposed on us," Egypt will fight, Nasser declared, unless her sovereignty is ensured.

He said the Egyptian planes Britain and France claimed to have destroyed were only "wooden dummies," and the Egyptian air force is strong and ready.

World opinion has lined up with Egypt against Britain and France, Nasser said.

Egypt emerged from the Anglo-French invasion "feeling stronger than we did when we started," he declared.

When Britain and France attacked Egypt, Nasser said, "they were ignoring world opinion and playing with fire."

Map May Help You Survive

A map for survival will be distributed by the Greater Victoria civil defence control board to householders and businesses in the area in the next few days.

The blue-bound "interim voluntary survival plan" clearly establishes routes of evacuation from the area and designates destinations of refugees from a possible enemy target area.

The civil defence pamphlet quietly prepare to defend themselves. It "has no desire to create alarm" but in this age of scientific development of dead and kept in a place for "dos and don'ts" and informative instruments it has been easy reference, explains meaning of warning signals and fall-out.

Lions' Panel

'Canada's Action May Save World'

By R. O. MARRION

Canada's position is such in the Middle East crisis that it may be able to go down in history as the savior of the world, John Priestly said yesterday when six members of the Lions Club spoke for six nations in a panel discussion of the crisis.

Mr. Priestly represented Canada; Denis Glew, Britain; Milton King, the United States; Jack Horne, Egypt; George Jones, France, and Ted Estlin, Israel. Lionel O'Neill was moderator.

SANE, CLEAR

In the present situation, Mr. Priestly said, there was more reason than ever before to assemble the facts and analyze them sanely, clearly and unemotionally, and this, he thought, External Affairs Minister Pearson and Prime Minister St. Laurent had done.

The Ottawa Tail Wags Obediently

When the Suez crisis broke, the U.S. was absorbed in the presidential election. Nevertheless, the U.S. dog reacted and the Ottawa tail wagged obediently. On the CBC news commentary that evening a sad, but also smug, voice was heard saying that, for the first time, Britain would face the world alone, without the backing of the Commonwealth. One was inclined to question that — and one was not disappointed. Australia and New Zealand stood beside Britain in the morning.

Now (am., Nov. 8) comes a story that Mr. St. Laurent has spoken very sharply to Sir Anthony Eden. This is still only a newspaper story, but the CBC gave it precedence over all other news. Naturally — for it was both spectacular and anti-English. No mention is made of a similar telegram to France — and that, too, is natural: Ottawa must consider Quebec. The misguided French, we are left to assume, have been talked into this rash adventure by the crafty English, the bloody-minded imperialists who, according to the UN, make war for the fun of it.

We are now faced with the spectacle of the talkers of the UN doing their best to discredit the two countries who dared to initiate in time the action upon which the UN itself now plans to take — and of the administration at Ottawa (according to the CBC) at loggerheads with the two countries which, between them, laid the foundations of Canada and which are taking the risk and the opprobrium of the very action for which Mr. Pearson — who previously had not thought it necessary to do anything at all — now belatedly calls.

R. M. PATTERSON.

Shoal Harbour, Box 250, Sidney, B.C.

Might or Right?

I believe that the federal government took the right stand in the Suez crisis. Only when all nations' or at least a majority of them, accept United Nations direction and control is there any hope of peace and justice in the international field.

Whenever a nation takes the law into its own hands, then law ceases to be the deciding factor and might becomes right. If it is right for Britain and France to violate the UN charter and use their forces to achieve what they believe is right, then any other nation is similarly privileged. We can not condemn Russia or Egypt. The difference, if any, is in degree and not in principle. In all cases it is national power and not international justice which decides the issue.

That Great Britain has such a fine reputation for respect for the law and for the rights of other nations, makes her present defection under the Conservative government more serious. We expect violence and treachery from Russia. We expect Russia to ignore treaty obligations and to sabotage and ignore the UN. But when Great Britain and France act illegally and openly demonstrate their lack of faith in the United Nations, then the entire structure of international justice, law and order is undermined.

No matter how right the aims of Britain and France are, they were after them the wrong way. We should recall Lincoln's words: "You can't do the right thing the wrong way; that is as bad as doing the wrong thing." We can be proud that Canada's leaders have had the courage to stand for the right, even when it meant voting against Britain and having Russia claim to be on our side.

If the United Nations prevails in the Suez, then there is hope that international law will be able to establish the freedom of nations now under Soviet oppression.

FRANK SNOWSELL.

Lack of Faith

There are many Canadians wondering why Canada has, at this most critical time in world affairs, taken so many frightful actions against the United Kingdom and the rest of the Commonwealth. Things have come to a sorry pass when our Queen has to appeal to us for understanding. Was the Mother Country so wrong in her Suez action that Canada at the United Nations could not say one word in her favor or even refute some of the horrible and quite untrue charges made against her there by our avowed enemies — the Communists.

The U.K. may well be relied upon to anticipate and seek to circumvent Communist moves in the Middle East and elsewhere. If, for strategic or other reasons, Canada was not consulted about the Suez move, did she ask for an explanation before acting as she did at the meeting of the United Nations? All well informed military analysts admit the U.S.A. blundered in Suez negotiations, which came to a crisis when internal politics in that country were temporarily of more importance than world events. For that reason the U.S. action, or lack of it, can be understood but not condoned. The U.S. has some excuse; Canada has none.

Why did L. Pearson not vote against the original Suez motion at the UN, for after the vote was counted in explaining why Canada abstained, his entire explanation was reason why he should either have voted against the motion or proposed an amendment. Yesterday, Nov. 7, L. Pearson again voted against the advice and pleas of the U.K., Australia and New Zealand. On a motion demanding that Britain and France withdraw "immediately" from the Suez.

How stupid can we be? What deplorable lack of faith we show in the considered judgment of the rest of the Commonwealth.

These questions must some day be answered; meantime there are more important things to be done. Have our forces been alerted? They have in the U.S.A. and elsewhere.

Losing Revenue

Every property owner in Victoria should take a vital interest in this trade licence question. Every year there is an increase in our taxes. Every year a higher mill rate.

Ald. Don Smith has brought to the attention of the city council the fact that the City of Victoria is losing approximately $175,000 annually due to unfair trade licensing. If every business paid their fair share it is in the realm of possibility the mill rate could be lowered.

May I bring to your attention why I am of the opinion $175,000 is a low quote? Bear in mind this fact: hotels, apartment blocks and rooming houses pay the same amount in trade licence, i.e., $3 per room per year. A rooming house with five single rooms—average rental, $25 per month; total rent for the year, $1,500; total trade licence, $15 per year. Empress Hotel—five single rooms: average rental $8 per day; total rent for the year, $13,440; total trade licence, $15. I think I have said enough.

Not a Prediction

May I correct a report of a recent lecture given by Mr. R. E. Wemp, secretary-general of the British-Israel World Federation (Can.), in which it is stated that Mr. Wemp "predicted" the return of Jesus Christ for December, 1957.

What Mr. Wemp said was that if "this generation" spoken of by our Lord (Luke 21:32) was one of 40 years' duration, and commenced with the fall of Jerusalem in December, 1917, to the British under General Allenby, constituting the fulfillment of the "times of the Gentiles," then our Lord COULD come on or before Dec. 11, 1957.

It must be obvious that a suggestion is not the same as a prediction. British-Israelites are too often accused of predicting, when nothing of the sort is intended.

When There's Trouble 'Footsloggers' Called

OTTAWA (CP)—On the policy of the government, the defence department wouldn't have to offer the United Nations a 1,000-man contingent of soldiers for duty in the Middle East.

Many officers consider the army has won a major point in the rivalry which goes on among the three services over apportionment of defence money and manpower.

As one officer put it: "When a real crisis arose in the Middle East, they didn't call for the air force and its jet planes or the navy and its jet planes and new destroyers. They called for the soldiers, the plain old footsloggers."

"It all goes to show that even in the age of atomic bombs you still need the army—and you need them first."

SPACE FOR EVERYTHING

At the same time naval officers have been given an opportunity to knock the RCAF argument that the Canadian navy has no business operating an aircraft carrier. The air force maintains it can fly convoy protection and anti-submarine strikes from land bases.

The navy, however, isn't employing the argument that it has used right along—that ships still need planes right beside them, not hundreds of miles away.

It is saying that without the air-

Bonner Challenge Defeated

DUNCAN—A challenge to the chair was overruled at a public meeting here Thursday night and a resolution passed asking the province to provide $3,478,130 for hospitals in the E & N district.

George E. Bonner, Cobble Hill, president of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers Association, vacated the chair to make the challenge and move for return of railway subsidy money paid from land and property taxes from 1950 to 1955.

Ways to raise money for a new hospital were discussed at the meeting following decisive defeat in four zones of the unorganized area of a plan to elect trustees for a hospital improvement district.

After considerable discussion on whether it was any use to ask for the railway subsidy money, a hand vote was called. C. P. Deykin, of Duncan, in the chair, ruled the motion carried. He was challenged to take a standing vote. He refused and denied the challenge to his decision.

News of Nanaimo

Training School Unit Badly Fire-Damaged

NANAIMO (CP)—A vocational training school building was badly damaged by fire late Friday.

One of a number of frame structures housing the institution where diesel and automotive mechanics are taught, the unit housed three classrooms. Cause of the fire was not known.

Principal Dick Macready was unable to estimate approximate damage to the 11-year-old structure. Some classroom equipment, engines and testing devices, was saved by pupils.

A bread salesman restricted to driving at 25 miles an hour during darkness because he is "slightly color blind," pleaded guilty to driving contrary to the restrictions on his permit. Hugh Templeton Pettigrew was clocked at 65 miles an hour at night and had his licence suspended for 10 days by Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts. He was fined $25.

Details of a report for a $1,109,000 sewer system for Greater Nanaimo area were released yesterday to Harewood Improvement District and city council.

Expense for the project would be shared by Nanaimo ($340,705), Harewood ($349,600), Northfield ($61,535) and Departure Bay ($157,660). In the event of an adjustment of capital cost, Nanaimo's share would rise to $637,000.

Plebiscites will have to be presented in Harewood, Northfield and Departure Bay to get ratepayers' approval to join the new authority.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Niven, 75-year-old Machleary Street couple, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary yesterday. They have lived in the district 45 years.

Thirty-five power boat owners have started a course of pilotage and navigation and Nanaimo may have a power boat squadron this spring.

The 35, three of whom are women, will be tested by the federal government. Object of the course is to bring power boats up to federal standards.

A man whom police chased at 87 miles an hour pleaded not guilty to speeding in Nanaimo police court yesterday. Anatole Boulanger, Brechin Road, Nanaimo, lost his licence for 14 days and was fined $25.

New officers of the Nanaimo Outboard Club elected at Harewood Thursday are Fred Reid, commodore; N. Brunt, vice-commodore; Al Bell, secretary; Bob Nash, treasurer; Howard Tyrell, fleet captain.

Evacuation of Cities 'Assistance to Enemy'

PORT ALBERNI—Mass evacuation is fantastically impossible, Jim Hume, Port Alberni newspaperman, told a meeting of the Alberni District Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He expressed surprise that men of ability, as he regarded civil defence authorities, could really believe that evacuation of large centres could be accomplished with success.

He maintained that the prime object of the enemy would be to demoralize the civil population. If this can be achieved, Mr. Hume stated, the attacking nation obtains a greater victory than any which could be achieved on a battlefield.

Civil defence authorities, in their plans, have actually selected the targets for the enemy, said Mr. Hume.

He cited the raids on England's cathedral towns in support of plans for evacuation of port of his contentions that it Greater Victoria. He stressed is a fallacy to believe that be the need for a practical outlook cause a city has no military in and recommended more am- stallation, it will therefore be phasis on shelters rescue squads and decontamination safe from attack. Labor Urges Safety Man

Victoria Labor Council Wednesday urged the Workmen's Compensation Board to appoint an additional safety inspector on Vancouver Island.

Council concurred with a suggestion from Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, of America, local 1163, which said that with present amount of heavy construction on the island it was "extremely difficult" to get the sole safety inspector to investigate a job.

Christmas Shut-Down Proposed

DUNCAN—Stores here will close for three days over Christmas if plans approved by the Chamber of Commerce are carried out.

The three-day closure would cover Christmas Day, Boxing Day and the following Thursday, normally a half-holiday in Duncan.

Pre-Christmas hours call for the stores to stay open on Thursday in the week before Christmas. The closure for the Thursday following Boxing Day was considered necessary to compensate hard-worked clerks for overtime during holiday rush.

Most of the independent food stores remain open Friday nights until 9 p.m., but from Nov. 30 through December, all stores will be open Fridays until 9. Shops will be open until 9 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 22. On Dec. 20, normal half-holiday, the stores would remain open until 5:30 p.m.

On Dec. 24, the stores will close as usual at 5:30 p.m.

Fuel-Toting Drivers Run Foul of the Law

Four Greater Victoria drivers in excess of 300 pounds, without juvenile $10 for possession of a firearm without a licence.

Each was fined $10 and costs in Colwood police court Friday for driving a vehicle with a load in excess of 300 pounds, without a licence.

The four were W. R. Elford, 2780 Dorset Road; Edward C. Lee, 3016 Donald; Gerald L. Mountfield, 710 Snowdrop, and Sidney Victor Hunt, 1320 Gladstone.

Before going out of the city for fuel, say RCMP, any motorist should consult the Motor Vehicle Branch to make sure their vehicles are properly licensed. This applies even to owners of pick-up trucks.

One driver, George E. Sears, 458 Monarch Crescent, was fined $35 and costs for careless driving on Millstream Road.

Thirteen drivers paid a total of $325, and costs, driving without valid drivers' licences.

Five drivers paid fines of $15 each, plus costs, for speeding, and three paid $25 and costs each for operating a car contrary to restrictions on their licences.

In addition, there were four convictions under the Game Act. William C. Ross, Work Point Barracks, was fined $10 and costs for having no hunting licence; Richard English, 1032 Tulip, $25 for possession of game in a closed season; Floyd C. Rowe, 2811 Jacklin, Langford, for keeping game, and a Saanich

George Joseph Gannon, QOR, of Gordon Head Camp, was fined $25 in Oak Bay police court Friday for driving without a licence.

In an earlier session of Colwood court Friday, preliminary hearing of Elvin Warren Slater, 21, of 1306 Douglas, was adjourned to Tuesday at 2 p.m. He is charged with criminal negligence as a result of an accident near Parsons Bridge, Sept. 25, in which Archdeacon Robert Little, 75, suffered fatal injuries.

Orist T. Proznick of Vancouver, remanded in city police court Oct. 26 on a charge of criminal negligence, pleaded guilty yesterday to a reduced charge of careless driving.

Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered a fine of $40. For two months Proznick must drive for business purposes only.

Proznick was one of two drivers involved in a chase-and-ran incident Sept. 22 at Fisgard and Store.

Driver of the other vehicle, Rogerick A. Perry, 2627 Blain, said police at the scene he had rammed the other car on purpose in an attempt to stop it, following an altercation on Fisgard.

Perry on Oct. 26 was fined $150 and had his licence suspended, on a charge of criminal negligence.

Chin Hoy Tai, cook on the Princess Joan since 1953, was fined $25 and $30 costs on a charge of theft of meat and poultry valued at less than $30. He had changed his plea from not guilty to guilty.

Halloween echoed again in city police court, when Larry Rantz, 973 Goldstream, pleaded guilty to throwing a firecracker on View Street. He was fined $15.

On a charge of failing to yield to pedestrians in a crosswalk, Fred Roeken, 935 Foul Bay, pleaded guilty and was fined $15.

Frank Mallory, 1139 Hilda, pleaded guilty to failure to pay his road and pool taxes, and was fined $2 and costs and $5 and costs on each count. On a separate charge, Mallory pleaded guilty to exceeding the 30-mile-an-hour speed limit and was fined $15.

Allan Walker Smith, 579 Whiteside, pleaded guilty in city police court Thursday and was fined $15 on a charge of failure to yield the right of way to a pedestrian.

Norma E. Paget, 4222 Cedar Hill Road, paid a fine of $10 on pleading guilty to a charge of failing to dim her headlights.

Joseph Fee, 610 Linden, admitting to a speeding charge, paid a fine of $20, and Einar Norgaard, 2631 Millstream, was fined $5 for leaving a vehicle unattended with the motor running.

Russell A. Lyon, 2350 Trent, was fined $35 Tuesday on a careless driving charge arising out of an accident Oct. 29 on Esquimalt Road.

Western Grid Final Here Today

Fort William Suffers. From Injury Streak

By JIM TAYLOR

Fort William Redskins arrived in Victoria last night minus an all-star quarterback and three other first-stringers, but coach Jack "Baldy" James didn't look particularly worried.

The Redskins take on Oak Bay Drakes at 8:30 p.m. in the Western Canada intermediate Canadian football final at 2 this afternoon at Royal Athletic Park. The winner will host the Canadian championship next week.

"Yes," James admitted cheerfully, "we lost seven men. We ran into a streak of broken legs. But the guys I came out here with are in top shape, and that's what counts."

"We haven't got Dick Seagriss with us, and he's our league's all-star quarterback and passer. That hurts. But we've got Al Kadolph, the club's top ground bert Davey who ran the club in the game against Winnipeg Rams last week. He can do a

Expect More Trouble

"Drakes figure to give us a lot more trouble this time than last year when we beat them 38-0," James said. "They've got star quarterback with the good players like Rick Ginn, who Edmonton junior Wildcats and we played against before and he can hurt you."

"But I'm still confident. I won't say we're going to win, but if the Drakes beat us they're going to be an awfully strong ball club."

Meanwhile, Drakes held their final workout last night. "The club looks pretty good," coach Jack Patrick said. "And except for Don Donahue's ankle we're in top shape."

Donahue, a standout defensive back, is definitely out for the game. Patrick wasn't certain whether or not tackle Joe Kurlyo would start, although the burly lineman's shoulder was reported to be sufficiently healed. If Kurlyo doesn't make the game, Ivor Jenkins will fill in at his tackle slot.

"Jenkins has looked pretty good at tackle," Patrick said, so we won't worry too much about that spot.

VIEWS OF SPORT

By Red Smith

LOS ANGELES—It may have been on Bugs Baer's first visit to this earthly paradise of smog and neon that he was introduced by a toastmaster as author of the deathless line: "When you leave New York, everything else is Bridgeport."

If the quotation is garbled, Bugs' forgiveness is humbly prayed but it's odds-on the toastmaster messed it up, too.

Anyhow, presenting the visitor, the Native Son threw down the gage. "Now tell us, Mr. Baer," he said, "how does Los Angeles strike you?"

"Bridgeport," said Mr. Baer, "with palm trees."

For purposes of this essay, everything outside of New York is Melbourne. This sprawling home of pick'n'chick'n and the glorified hamburger is merely a stop on the road to the Olympics. Providence and Orville Wright willing, there will be others before the youth of 74 nations assemble on an oversized cricket crease for the quadrennial muscle dance.

Over the next five or six weeks there will be reference here to the deeds of young men romping about in their lingerie. Conscientious endeavor will be made to keep it cool. If, for example, Russian athletes should achieve a purely mythical victory on the basis of a scoring system that doesn't exist, it will not be viewed as the twilight of civilization.

The Primal Urge

Accepted for what it is, the Olympic carnival is a sporting spectacle without parallel in this world, a pageant of perspiration worth travelling halfway around the globe to see. As the Kentucky Derby commands the avid interest of millions who never heard of any other horse race, so the Olympics capture the imagination of multitudes who don't ordinarily pay much heed to track and field.

Incidentally, a point in connection with track and field came to attention during the trip out here. In the United States, these sports seldom get a mention in any list of the popular spectator games. Except on the Pacific Coast, outdoor track doesn't compete with baseball, football, horse racing, boxing and basketball as a box office attraction. Yet fly across the country and there's hardly a moment when, looking down, you can't see a school athletic field with an oval running strip enclosing turf pocked by the sandy jumping pits.

The kids in their underwear command few banner headlines and sell out few stadia but in every hamlet of the land they go right on running and jumping and flinging hardware about. The instinctive urge to excel the other guy in speed and strength is as strong today as it was when the first two sprinters fell out of a tree and raced after a bunch of dinosaurs or a blonde with curly eyelashes.

And Now There Is One

This, of course, is why track and field records are such a perishable commodity, enduring hardly long enough to get printed. There were smashing performances in the Helsinki games of 1952, yet every single feat brought off there has been surpassed since. In the 24 events of the track and field program, the only Olympic record that remained unchallenged through the last two games is Jesse Owens' broad jump of 26 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

That one has stood for 20 years, which offers a pretty fair measure of quality.

World record performances are the exception rather than the rule in Olympic competition because an Olympic final in any event is contested only once in four years. On one specified day out of 1,461, the Olympian must be fit for a peak effort and all other factors such as weather, wind and track conditions must combine to help him.

From 1920 through 1928, track and weather conditions were less than ideal in Antwerp, Paris and Amsterdam. Then came 1932 and a perfect combination of circumstances in Los Angeles. Eighteen Olympic records were destroyed in 24 events, the most spectacular assault on time and distance which the carnival has witnessed.

After that smasher there was some tapering off in Berlin in 1936, and then war intervened for 12 years. Normal advancement in techniques might have been reflected more markedly than they were in the London games of 1948, but there were some days of smothering heat and some of heavy rain. It took Helsinki's superb track and cool, slightly moist climate to get the boys up to date, with 19 new records.

First thing that Sherry Wishart, a 10-year member of the club, did when he reached the hotel last night was to freshen up after the long trip from Eastern Canada. Watching Wishart shave is Jack McKenzie, another veteran with nine years of service with the Redskins. Fort William meets Oak Bay Drakes at Royal Athletic Park today in the biggest grid game ever staged here.

Fort William Redskins, reputed to be one of the strongest clubs to come out of the Lakehead district in years, won't be spending much time in Victoria, but they hope it will be long enough to capture the Western Canada intermediate Canadian football title. Here, defensive end Ron Fitzmaurice, left, and all-star end Pete Kommissio inspect their equipment. (Colonist photos by Jim Ryan.)

Totems Drubbed In Hoop Opener

By MURRAY HOLMES

George "Porky" Andrews' rebuilt Victoria High School Totems made their first start of the 1956 high school basketball season last night and were drubbed, 79-40, by the Vic High Grads at the new Victoria High Gym.

In last night's other two high school games, Mount View Hornets defeated University School, 68-33, at Mount View, and Oak Bay downed Esquimalt, 52-30, at Oak Bay.

The Grads, who won the Vancouver Island championship as last year's Totems, built up a 23-point lead in the first half as they took advantage of the inexperienced Totems' mistakes and made them pay off in points.

High scorer for the Grads was Waldo Skilling with 21 points. Centre Bob Tomlinson and guard Tom English, both Island all-stars last year, sank 16 points apiece.

In the preliminary game, the Grads girls came from behind to down Vic High's senior girls' squad, 32-24.

Amerks Make Good Impression As Cougars Drop 4-0 Decision

By JIM TANG

Victoria Cougars gave it a lot of try last night at Memorial Arena but Seattle Americans left few, if any, onlookers doubting that they are the better club as they skated to a merited 4-0 victory before more than 3,000 fans.

It was a costly setback for the Victorians, now eight points out of the lead in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League and desperately needing the points at Seattle tonight to stay close enough to the pace so that there is more than just the hope the club will get into the playoffs.

The season, for the Cougars, is only one-fifth over and there is still plenty of time—56 games to go—to make up lost ground. However, the Cougars are going to need some player help to keep from slipping farther back unless there is general improvement both defensively and offensively. Goal-keeper Marcel Pelletier can only take them so far.

Battling all the way, the Cougars stayed close last night until they blundered twice during third-period Seattle penalties, but they were out-

Miss Good Chances

Cougars fought back and Bob Beckett, Wayne Brown and Neil Bullock all just missed within seconds at the 12-minute mark. Nor could the Islanders find the net when Americans played short-handed for four of the last five minutes of the period.

Pelletier saved the day during Doherty's penalty midway through the second period and Cougars came on again in the last half of the period. Americans appeared to be tiring and Victoria's chances looked good when the clubs started the third period.

Doug Macaulay was in right at the start of the final period but Francis slid out to block his shot. Then Fred Creighton got a penalty for slashing while Cougars went out for the tying goal with five forwards.

It was a costly penalty—for the Cougars. Fiedler got the draw from a face-off in the Victoria zone, and flicked the puck ahead to block the hustling Ray Kinasewich. He left two pursuers flummoxed as he raced in on Pelletier and slid the puck under the Victoria netminder.

Hungarian Athletes Disturbed

Sixty dispirited and disturbed Hungarian Olympic athletes and officials arrived in Australia early Saturday morning and begged newsmen anxiously for news of the fighting in their homeland.

"We don't feel much like competing in the Olympic Games," said the spokesman for the group. "Our condition and form has been ruined by worry and anxiety."

One woman athlete, who said she has children at home, sobbed frequently and was obviously under a great emotional strain.

Before leaving Hungary, members of the team had been quoted as saying: "We don't want to compete against our Russian murderers." Asked in Australia whether the Hungarians would compete against Russians, the only comment available was "we shall see."

At Mount View, Dave Emery led the Hornets with 22 points. Jack Showers was high man for Oak Bay in their win over Esquimalt with 25 points.

Victoria Cougars gave it a lot of try last night at Memorial Arena but Seattle Americans left few, if any, onlookers doubting that they are the better club as they skated to a merited 4-0 victory before more than 3,000 fans.

It was a costly setback for the Victorians, now eight points out of the lead in the Western Division of the Western Hockey League and desperately needing the points at Seattle tonight to stay close enough to the pace so that there is more than just the hope the club will get into the playoffs.

The season, for the Cougars, is only one-fifth over and there is still plenty of time—56 games to go—to make up lost ground. However, the Cougars are going to need some player help to keep from slipping farther back unless there is general improvement both defensively and offensively. Goal-keeper Marcel Pelletier can only take them so far.

Battling all the way, the Cougars stayed close last night until they blundered twice during third-period Seattle penalties, but they were out-

Miss Good Chances

Cougars fought back and Bob Beckett, Wayne Brown and Neil Bullock all just missed within seconds at the 12-minute mark. Nor could the Islanders find the net when Americans played short-handed for four of the last five minutes of the period.

Pelletier saved the day during Doherty's penalty midway through the second period and Cougars came on again in the last half of the period. Americans appeared to be tiring and Victoria's chances looked good when the clubs started the third period.

Doug Macaulay was in right at the start of the final period but Francis slid out to block his shot. Then Fred Creighton got a penalty for slashing while Cougars went out for the tying goal with five forwards.

It was a costly penalty—for the Cougars. Fiedler got the draw from a face-off in the Victoria zone, and flicked the puck ahead to block the hustling Ray Kinasewich. He left two pursuers flummoxed as he raced in on Pelletier and slid the puck under the Victoria netminder.

Canucks on Move; Flyers Make Gain

Vancouver Canucks won their fifth straight game and Edmonton's bolstered Flyers moved close to Brandon Regals in the Eastern Division last night as all eight Western Hockey League clubs saw action.

Canucks scored three times in the third period in bouncing New Westminster Royals at Vancouver, 6-2, and the Flyers got by Calgary Stampeders, 4-3, at Edmonton while the Warriors nudged the Regals, 3-2, at Winnipeg.

Royals, playing their fifth game in eight days, from taking a real trouncing.

Tibbs managed to get in front of 37 shots and kept his club close enough for a chance until the third period even though Royals could get only seven shots at Ray Mikulan in the first two periods.

Jackie McLeod, with his 12th and 13th goals and an assist, and his centerman, Phil Maloney, who had three assists, led the Canucks.

Action, rugged throughout, lived up considerably in the second period with two hassles.

In the first, Vancouver's Mott McLean crosschecked defenceman Jim Hay and when Pete Durham moved in to help out Hay, he was intercepted by Gordie Pennell. Flats swung freely before order was restored.

Flyers, strengthened by the addition of Tom McCarthy, promising young winger, and the return of veteran Eddie Stankiewicz, got together after a bad first period. They took a 3-2 lead in the second period, made it 4-2 early in the third and then played defensive hockey to hold Stamps to only one more goal.

B.C. Tenpin Final Set Here in April

By JIM TAYLOR

For the first time in the four-year history of the event, this season's B.C. tenpin championship roll-off will be held in Victoria.

Gibson's Bowladrome manager Rod Henry and Strathcona Bowling Alley boss Roy Beggs received final confirmation yesterday that the singles final will be held on their alleys, probably in the first week in April.

That means that the best two bowlers from every district in B.C. will gather in Victoria, giving local fans a chance to see some top-flight shooting.

Under the new set-up arranged by Brunswick-Balke Company and the Canadian Tenpin Association, the B.C. winner will meet the Alberta champion, with the winner to take on the Saskatchewan champ. A similar knockout will be staged in the east, so that instead of a Dominion-wide roll-off for the Canadian title, two men will battle for the crown.

Winner of the Canadian title is seeded into the American Masters tournament.

Manager Larry Marshall is getting to feel pretty good about the fivepin scores rolled at his alleys. Now when you ask him he says "Which do you want first, the 900s or the 800s?" There were no scores in the 900s this week, but there were two over 800 and a whopping 400 single, all rolled by the same man. Jeff Worrall posted scores of 801 and 817 in separate leagues, and chalked up 11 strikes in one game for his 400, missing only on the fifth frame.

Joan White boosted her league average to 253, probably the highest in the city, with triples of 788 and 821 (319). Other top scorers were Tony Bishop, 790 (339); R. Dawson, 763 (305); Alec Ross, 777 (356); John Middlemass, 727 (301); Marie Fisher, 728 (318); Bill McKay, 711 (301); Tom Johnson, 741; Frank Morgan, 748; Phil Young, 753; Jim Gallant, 742; Fred Jenkins, 747; Mark Cunningham, 735; H. Townsend, 721 (308), and Tim Wilson, 788 (300).

At Gibson's Bowladrome, May Waters rolled an 862 triple and in the process came as close to a perfect game as anyone this season. She had seven strikes, picked up a corner pin in the eighth, got a strike in the ninth, another corner-pin spare and a strike in the 10th for a 388 score.

Eric Ware, 864 (314); May Wallis, 804; A. Majorki, 713; B. Hill, 734; J. Goldie, 730 (323); Harold Jones, 715; Ken Smith, 728; R. Davidson, 710; B. Wendland, 701; Reg Waggoner, 704; H. Butler, 715 (330); Russ Bird, 710 (369); Sheldon Nipp, 700; Ming Eng, 789; Bill Odgers, 803; Cy Wallis, 703, and L. White, 744 (307) were the other high scorers.

Will Smith of Gibson's senior league was the top tenpin in the city this week with a 605 triple, including a 240 single. Con McBeth, 585 (211); Andy Palmer, 563; Roy Beggs, 556 (231); Wilbur Webb, 543; Bob Bysted, 543 (211); Bud Falk, 541; Ken Munn, 540, and George Brown, 540, were the other top trundlers in the senior league.

Webb led the mixed league at Gibson's with 578 (223) followed by Jack Hobby, 574 (244), and Colin Corbett, 548 (300). R. Lawson, 584 (347); Jack Hobby, 569 (203), and V. Goudal, 566 (219), were tops in the commercial league.

At Strathcona, the high senior tenpinners were Nick Howard, 568 (202); Bob Bysted, 558; Ron Wilson, 561; Harold Paulding, 556 (206); Al Stokes, 553; Roy Harris, 548; Ted Bowcock, 551; Roy Beggs, 547; and Tommy Nute, 540 (201). Ian McKeachie, 548 (201), and Don McAlpine, 546 (209), led the commercial league.

In the Victoria women's major league at Gibson's, Hope Graham had a 437 triple and G. Cornthwaite, 453. Don Bennett, with 549, led the Strathcona women's league.

Dick Dewsbury led fivepinners at Capital City Bowladrome with an 816 triple, followed by K. Todd, 775 (303); Art Leech, 743, and Stan Bell, 715. Percy Riddle, 320; Doug Romney, 330; Dave Barker, 308, and S. Irish, 302, were the high single-game bowlers.

Disagreement Aids Brooklyn Triumph

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese pitcher who "shook off" his manager and pitched to Jackie Robinson was responsible for a 5-4 Brooklyn Dodgers victory Friday over Yomiuri Giants.

American pitchers who disobey a manager's orders usually find themselves working elsewhere at the earliest opportunity. If Japanese baseball works the same way, Takehiko Bessho soon will be taking a hike to some other club.

Dodgers were locked in a 4-4 tie in the 11th when Robinson, their best clutch-hitter, went to bat with Junior Gilliam on second.

Manager Nobuyasu Mizuhara, who obviously had read of Robinson's game-winning 10th-inning single that gave Brooklyn the sixth world series game 1-0, ordered his pitcher to walk Jackie.

Bessho shook off the sign. The Giants' catcher rushed to the mound. When the pitcher refused to follow instructions, the catcher ran to the dugout. After a hurried conference with manager Mizuhara, he ran back to the mound. Still, no base on balls.

Jackie swung and the ball screamed to right centre for the double that put Dodgers ahead to stay. It made their record 11-4 with one tie in their exhibition tour.

October Coho Crest Winners Named in Colonist Contest

October was a big month for big coho and it took a 15-pound, two-ounce fish to win a crest in The Daily Colonist's King Fisherman Contest.

Coho were scattered all the way from Bates Beach, which produced three crest-winners, to Trial Island, which produced two. Qualicum Bay, French Creek, Jordan River, Macaulay Point, Mill Bay, Sake Point, Otter Point and William Head were other areas in which crest-winning coho were caught.

SECOND LARGEST

Largest of the month was the 19-pounder caught by Mrs. Johnny Wren, 1960 Port Street, during a productive holiday at Bates Beach. It was the second largest coho entered in the contest, ranking behind the 22½-pounder which has won the King Fisherman Trophy in the coho division for Jim Chaplin.

Coho crest winners for October follow: Crest winners in other divisions will be announced tomorrow.

Church Nears Completion

Final work is being done on the new Grace Lutheran Church on Fort Street near Moss, with the congregation expecting to move in by Christmas. Rev. Paul Hoch makes a suggestion to two carpenters, J. P. Richmond, centre, and Cyril Gaudin, right, who are working on the $15,000 structure. Since volunteers did much of the work on the church, which will seat 150, actual value is estimated at over $20,000. (Colonist photo by Bud Kinsman.)

Former Hut Now Church

A former dilapidated air force hut was dedicated as Brentwood Bay United Church at 8 p.m. Thursday by Dr. W. S. Taylor, principal of Union Theological College, Vancouver.

The church, completely reconstructed at a cost of $20,000, has a 50-foot bell tower surmounted by a cross.

New minister of the church, Rev. Dr. A. K. McMinn, will be installed by Rev. Guy McKenzie, chairman of Victoria presbytery.

Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James of Metropolitan United Church will deliver the sermon.

The hour-glass, using sand, was a popular timepiece in Egypt centuries before the Christian era.

Message from the Minister

Don't Forget Them

This is another in a series of articles by Greater Victoria Chapter, Remembrance Day Committee.

By REV. CECIL BARNER, Douglas Street Baptist Church

As we come to another Remembrance Day we think especially of those who have sacrificed their lives for us.

While we live busy lives, and have many things to do it is easy to forget these brave men. This we must not do.

We must not forget the great loving sacrifice they have made.

They left this, their own country; they left all that was familiar and dear to them to go to strange lands and fight and give their lives that we might be free.

Two school teachers, Ernest and Will were on vacation. They had been teaching school in Winnipeg. They had a good year, and many happy experiences with their students. Now vacation time had come and they had driven many miles. They were coming near the Atlantic coast.

It had been a beautiful day, and very warm. They had passed through interesting places, and seen enjoyable things. It was about five o'clock when they came to the outskirts of an attractive village.

Ernest said, "Will are you and Will replied, "I would enjoy supper very much."

Then Ernest said, "Let's stop in this village for the night."

"It's fine with me," said Will.

As they drove about the village they noticed that it was quiet and lovely. There were the stores, and people were busily shopping. There were the schools, and children were playing on the grounds, having a wonderful time. There were the churches, and there would be services in some of them that night.

The thing that they noticed most of all was the peace and happiness all about. It was this peace and happiness that those who served in our armed forces sacrificed their lives to preserve.

Because of their sacrifice, we today may enjoy our democratic government, our schools, our churches, and the Bible, God's holy Word. How we should thank God for these things which they have preserved for us!

Amazed at size of lemons growing in Empress Hotel conservatory is pretty hotel employee Pat Thomson. "They look more like grapefruit," she said. The boy-old tree was donated about 25 years ago and has thrived in the heated glass room. "The fruit doesn't usually get to grow that big before someone picks it on us," said Thomson. Some Layoffs

Influx Boosts Jobless

Shortage of employment due to poor weather and some layoffs from the lumber industry, plus the heavy annual influx of persons from other parts of Canada to this area has sharply increased the number of unemployed persons here.

A Mudge, manager of the National Employment Service Office here, said yesterday the unemployed list this week rose to 2,168—a jump of 144 men and 138 women over last week's figures.

He pointed out that the problem was caused by a combination of factors, including a shortage of jobs in the lumber industry and a heavy influx of persons from other parts of Canada.

Driver of Week Thinks:

Thoughtless Drivers Bane of City Streets

HARRY MECHAN, puzzled at first

A man who believes thoughtlessness is the chief cause of traffic troubles is this week's Courtesy Driver Award winner.

Harry Mechan, 60, of 199 Denison Road, was selected by Oak Bay police for the latest award.

Mr. Mechan made his home here in 1952. After 12 years as manager in Madras, India, for Sun Life of Canada, he came to Victoria.

Before that he was branch secretary in Tokyo and Singapore. Mr. Mechan has been driving off and on for 30 years.

"I didn't drive very much in the Far East," he said. "But there everyone has a driver."

"I think the 'good driver' scheme is very sound," Mr. Mechan told The Daily Colonist. "Anything to encourage good driving is to be recommended."

This award is sponsored by the four Greater Victoria police departments, Woodward Stores (Victoria) and The Daily Colonist. Each driver receives a letter to a home game of the Cougars and a Woodward-Daily Colonist certificate. Their pictures are published in this newspaper.

It'll Cost Money To Silence Elvis

Radio station CKDA will stage a 24-hour "Elvis Presley marathon" beginning at 5:05 p.m. Friday to raise money for its annual Christmas party fund.

Disc jockey Norm Pringle will accept pledges both from those who want to hear the rock 'n' roll singer and those who don't, and will play Presley records in proportion.

In the past, the fund drive has lasted a month, but Mr. Pringle has agreed to try to raise the money in a day, even if they take me away on a stretcher.

Children's Hospital Needs Your Dimes

PORT ALBERNI—Approximately one-third of the Clapped Children's Hospital's $250,000 operating budget must come from contributions from the people of B.C., Mrs. G. C. Chandler, head of the hospital board of directors, said during a visit here this week.

The hospital, which accommodates 100 patients at $30,000, is an voluntary organization of the people of B.C. and is a non-profit organization.

Commerce Degree Debutante's Goal

Miss Alexandra Smith aimed this year's Victoria debutantes just how a prize debut of their class should be.

She is a graduate of St. Mary's school and is now in last year Arts at Victoria College. Future plans include studying for a degree in Commerce at University of British Columbia.

She is interested in sports but more in a spectator's way. Swimming is the exception for she likes to swim whenever possible. Also in the swimming pool she enjoyed at Victoria.

Oil Pipelines Give Strength To Markets

MONTREAL (CP)—Industrials opened on a higher note but shifted around noon and closed irregularly lower Friday in moderate trading on the Montreal and Canadian stock exchanges. Most price changes ranged to a point but a few issues jumped two points or more.

Pipe lines featured an otherwise ordinary session as Trans Mountain gained 2½, after being up six points and interprovincial added 1½. International Petroleum was up 2½ in a firm refining oil section. Papers were mixed with Great Lakes off a point and Powell River up a point.

Aluminum dipped ¼ in an easy base metals group. Beverages and constructions were fractionally better while banks were mixed in a ½-point range.

Toronto Weakens
TORONTO (CP)—The stock market fluctuated throughout Friday's session and closed in a mixed condition. Light trading was once again the rule as many investors continued to refrain from trading, waiting for a clearer international picture.

With refining oils leading the way, the market opened higher and appeared headed for a session of strong prices but more rumors from the Middle East resulted in an abrupt halt of the upward trend and prices began leveling off at noon.

Trans Mountain, which Thursday announced plans for a stock split and declared its initial dividend, opened four points higher at 93 and touched 95, an all-time high, but closed with a 2½-point gain.

Only refining oils and pipelines managed to keep above the previous close for the whole session. Hudson Bay and Noranda were down about a point among senior base metals but other seniors showed little change.

Western oils added one-half point to their index as index issues such as Calgary and Edmonton, Central Leduc and Canadian Atlantic recorded moderate gains. Canadian Devonian gained 25 cents while Canada Southern Pete was off 15 cents.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took its third consecutive loss Friday as trading volume tapered off to the slimmest of the week.

Key stocks showed losses of from fractions to about 2 points. Aircrafts bucked the trend and kept a good part of their gains despite a general lowering of prices near the close.

The most active stock was El Paso Natural Gas, off 1½ at 58 on 26,400 shares.

Gulf Oil once again was involved in heavy selling as it lost 2½ as a result of the nervous situation in the Middle East.

Among the steels, Bethlehem dropped 1 and Youngstown 1½. Leading rails showed fractional losses.

Lumber Stocks Sag
VANCOUVER—Trans Mountain Pipe made a new high in trading at 95, while Inland Natural Gas improved 25 cents to 7.25. Pacific Pete was off a similar amount at 15½.

Industrial Greeter Needed? Here's a Job for Someone

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

If you were wanting to set up new industrial premises in Victoria and district where would you go for advice?

Hector Crombie, secretary-manager of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, is the man to consult for advice on industrial premises in Victoria and district.

Victoria area can conscientiously say it is being helpful to prospective new employers. Nobody seems to know.

Some people say the B.C. Department of Trade and Industry is the logical spot. Others say it is the province of the Chamber of Commerce to act as welcoming agent and guide, philosopher and friend.

Others say that for details about available lands and building regulations they should go to the municipal offices.

Then there's the office of the Capital Region Planning Board headed by Brahmin Wiseman.

During the recent panel discussion on Victoria's industrial future staged by the Industrial Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce complaints were lodged that the city hall and others did not interest themselves sufficiently when new inquiries were made.

Alderman Art Dowell, a practical businessman told me the other day he did not think there was any withholding of information in the city hall.

"If I want to know anything I never have any difficulty," he said. "But it is true we do not have anything in the nature of an official greeter."

Industrial Greeter Needed? Here's a Job for Someone. The Chamber of Commerce is also handicapped in dealing with industrial enquiries because the district has very little industrially zoned land to offer.

Mr. Wiseman, head of the Capital Region Planning Board, said that in his two years in Victoria he had received only two industrial requests for information.

He added, however, that the board did not lay itself out as a provider of such service.

The facts are, therefore, that Victoria and district has no established and recognized authority capable of dealing with industrial enquiries, nor has it any vehicle with the funds to advertise the industrial and commercial possibilities of the area.

In view of the forthcoming loss of the Sidney Roofing plant this is a situation not to be viewed complacently.

It's an urgent job for somebody. But who?

Grain Prices

Stock	High	Low	Close
WINNIPEG (CP)—Dealing in day turned dull and prices were irregular on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Commercial demand was not as aggressive as in recent sessions. Some trades remained on the sidelines due to the unsettled international situation.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and domestic wheat were down ½ cent from Thursday except for Nos. 3 and 4 northern, which advanced 4.

Only refining oils and pipelines managed to keep above the previous close for the whole session. Hudson Bay and Noranda were down about a point among senior base metals but other seniors showed little change.

Western oils added one-half point to their index as index issues such as Calgary and Edmonton, Central Leduc and Canadian Atlantic recorded moderate gains. Canadian Devonian gained 25 cents while Canada Southern Pete was off 15 cents.

company has already indicated its intention of taking up its warrants.

As a result of the new offering Imperial Oil will receive about $66,000,000 which is to be used for capital expenditure and expansion.

The offer becomes void after Dec. 4, but after Nov. 13, the warrants will be transferable and on present market values will probably sell about 65 cents each.

N.B. ISSUES FIVES
The Province of New Brunswick issues $5,500,000 of five per cent sinking fund debentures, of 1974 and callable in 1968.

The offering is being made at $99½ giving a yield of 5.07 per cent and the bonds are in denominations of $300 and $1,000.

Construction is moving with schedule and this week more than 407 miles of the 650-mile main line has been welded. Progress is being made in all sections although snow has fallen on many parts of the route.

The company has received 490 miles of 30-inch pipe and is getting delivery at the rate of 20 miles a month. The final delivery is expected next July.
